About

Madalena was an economics student who didn't find in this the passion she was looking for in a career and stumbled into the restaurant business in hope of making a self-discovery. During that search that lasted two years, she went from full time waitress to team supervisor. Very good at her job but still yearning for more, she felt the need to go in search of learning opportunities and found ITUp where she was enrolled in a three months OutSystems course, getting the Web Developer Certification.
